

Custom Greek Apparel Specialists in Springfield MO, Express Press, Offer Online Shirt Design Tool

Express Press of Springfield, MO announces the arrival of its online shirt design tool, which allows consumers to order custom Greek shirts, sweatshirts and other apparel according to their exact specifications with a few clicks of the mouse.

Springfield, MO (PRWEB) May 26, 2014 -- Express Press wants to take the hassle out of designing custom Greek shirts and sweatshirts with free design services for Greek apparel, including t-shirts, sweatshirts, polo shirts, athletic wear and more.

The website allows users to make their choices from a wide array of apparel, color, size, and design. Express Press' full-time graphic artists offer a myriad of original designs for events such as Rush, pledge activities, Greek Week and Greek sports competitions. Sorority and fraternity members can also design every day t-shirts and sweatshirts using the Greek letters available in the design tool. Users can add more than one design on the same piece of apparel and even layer them to their liking. There is also an option for names and numbers on the back for sports apparel. A user could choose to design the front, back, sides, and sleeves of a shirt or sweatshirt if so inclined. All of the Greek letters in many different type fonts are preloaded in the tool. Registered users can also upload their own images to the online tool for the most personal touch.

If users don't have the time or inclination to design their own sorority or fraternity apparel, Express Press is happy to take the reins on a customer's concept. Express Press also offers a number of templates to choose from and build upon—it already has a large amount of Greek designs for sorority and fraternity needs.
